WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

What They Are-Why You Should Buy Them.

urticle was submitted by Builta, State Publicity Manager. National War Savings Com-

The National War Savings Committee is not only endeavoring to raise two billion dollars for the government through the sale of War Savings Stamps, but is attempting to create in the American people the habit of thrift and economy.

In the words of Lloyd George, the War Savings Committee hopes to teach the people that in war times "extravagance and the purchase of non-essentials is treason."

Every time a citizen in these war times purchases a thing not absolutely necessary to his health and comfort he is assisting in blotting out more American lives by Prussian shells, When one purchases something he does not need he makes men work who could otherwise be producing guns and munitions to help end the war more quickly.

There are not enough workmen in the country to produce all the laxuries and necessities the people have money to buy and at the same time make sufficient guns, munitions and supplies for the military forces.

Those who save their money and loan it to the government are saving the lives of American soldlers; those who spend their money as they please may help kill their own sons or their neighbors' sons who are over there in the trenches fighting for them.

The government needs money and labor now and needs it bad. It is the patriotic privilege and duty of every citizen not only to lonn all the money he can to the government, but to permit the government to borrow the labor it needs through his abstaining from the purchase of things he does

The government is endenvoring to raise money now through the sale of War Savings Stamps. These stamps are issued in 25-cent sizes (known as Thrift Stamps), and $5 sizes (known as War Savings Certificate Stamps).

When you buy the first 25-cent stamp you are given a card with spaces to hold fifteen more stamps of this size. These stamps are intended primarily for children's savings, and do not bear interest, but when the card is full it can be traded in on a $5 stamp that does.

When you get the first $5 stamp you are given a certificate eard with spaces for twenty stamps of this size, The stamps draw 4% interest, compounded quarterly, which is equivalent to about 41/2 %. This is the highest rate of interest the government has ever paid.

A $5 stamp costs $4.12 now and a cent more each month for the rest of the year. In five years it will be want to. Whether you have one or two hundred of them you may cash them any time at the postoffice on ten days' notice. But if you do not hold them for five years you get only 3% interest on the money lavested in them from the time you bought them until you cash them in. To get 4% compound interest you must hold them to the date of maturity, which is January 1, 1923.
